CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 318 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 6.0in. x 0.9in. Aircraft disappear without a trace. Published in 2011, Die By Wire describes a terror plot with eerie parallels to the mystery of Malaysia Airlines Flight 370. Die By Wire explains why would terrorists would do this. And how. In Die By Wire, Perdue created Khan Nasiri, a terror mastermind who determines that a monster under the bed makes can make for better terror than trying to one-up 911. Nasiri knows that if he takes the right financial positions in stocks and bonds, he stands to reap billions from the losses in airline securities and gains in other transportation. He also knows, that if public faith is lost in flying, then trillions in economic damage will be done to the Great Satan Western Crusaders. With the mystery intact, Nasiri makes a personal fortune and more money to fund more terror. Nasiri explains that spectacular terror events like 911 are hard to top because the public has hardened against them. That sort of terror also provides closure to grief and offer an enemy to focus on. Unexplained terror, however, offers no closure, no focus. It becomes the monster under the bed. Currently, Perdue serves as a consulting information analyst for one of the largest law enforcement agencies in the United States. Part of his contribution to this agency is the creation of what if scenarios. Die By Wire was one of those types of scenarios Perdue created before joining that agency. He has been asked not to write any more thrillers based on such scenarios. Like Perdues other scenario-thrillers come true, Die By Wire is fiction based on extensive factual and technological research. Others include: Slatewiper, which predicted bio-engineered gene...
